Please see Grant Coverage section for more specific details on each item.

Program Details
This initiative offers an opportunity for an interdisciplinary group of faculty members and graduate students at U.S. institutions to travel to Japan and conduct case study field research in the realms of the humanities and social sciences. The goal is to provide participants, especially those who may not be familiar with Japan, with firsthand experiences to gain a deeper understanding of and make connections in Japan that will be useful in their own disciplines after the trip. Researchers who are experts on Japan at U.S. universities, colleges, think tanks or other research organizations are invited to apply for this grant to help fund a short-term study tour.

Eligibility
- U.S. universities, colleges, or institutions with 501(c)3 status

Requirements
1. Applying institutions are ultimately responsible for all organizational aspects of the visit to Japan, including but not limited to the following:
   - Preparing appropriate itinerary
   - Making and managing appointments
   - Conducting the tour
   - Securing additional financial resources as needed

For logistical information, please see the Reference Information listed at the bottom of the guidelines.

2. Project director: A faculty member who is a Japan specialist is required to serve as the “project director” and must accompany the group on the trip. Project directors will preferably have a PhD or terminal degree in their field and teach Japan-related courses. They are expected to provide guidance and expertise to the group before, during, and after the trip. Project directors are responsible for all practical academic and logistical aspects of the application. If necessary, the applying institution may have an additional individual or individuals assist the project director and attend the study-trip.

2. Participants: The applying institution, in conjunction with the project director, is responsible for selecting appropriate participants, who are either faculty members and/or students at the graduate level affiliated with U.S. institutions. The group must be comprised of at least five (5) participants. The group must be interdisciplinary and include more than half of the participants who are not specialized in Japanese Studies. Participants should primarily be from the applying institution, but those invited from relevant nearby institutions may also be considered when appropriate. Study tours may be incorporated into course syllabi but it is not mandatory.

3. Itinerary: Travel itineraries should be appropriately arranged for a group of participants with diverse, interdisciplinary backgrounds to generate interest in and broaden the understanding of Japan. The Japan stay must include a minimum of five (5) days of academic activities including three (3) lectures provided by institutions of higher learning in Japan and/or other relevant organizations.

4. Timeframe: Applications are accepted on a rolling basis and are open until January 31, 2020. The proposed grant period must commence after September 1, 2019 and complete by August 31, 2020, and the trip dates must fall within the grant period. Grant funds must be expended during the proposed grant period. The final report is due two (2) months after the grant period.

5. After the trip: Upon completion of the trip, participants are required to submit individual reports, minimum of 1,000 words, on how they will incorporate their experiences in the future. The project director will be responsible for collecting the essays and including them as one component of the final report to the Japan Foundation CGP. In addition, the project director is required to submit a brief essay (1,000-2,000 words) on the overall project. Some of the essays may be shared on the Japan Foundation or CGP’s website or through SNS.

Priorities
- A group of participants with diverse, interdisciplinary backgrounds, who demonstrate strong qualifications
- Travel itineraries arranged appropriately to broaden the understanding of Japan, not reinforcing stereotypes
- Travel itineraries arranged to build on and expand networks with Japanese counterparts
- Consideration of long-term goals and sustainable commitments after the trip (i.e. plans to incorporate Japan elements in research, new courses and course modules, etc.)

Grant Coverage
1. The Japan Foundation CGP grant can help defray individual expenses for the following items only:
   - Round trip international flight between the United States and Japan: actual cost, up to the estimated fare for the shortest route from the city of boarding to the destination using economy class discount fare.
   - Accommodation, Per Diem, Domestic transportation within Japan. Overseas travel insurance and other miscellaneous costs: up to US$300 per person, per day

2. The Japan Foundation CGP can provide up to US$2,000 for the project director to help defray expenses associated with organizing the trip, in addition to the individual travel expenses for the same items mentioned in #1.

3. The Japan Foundation CGP can provide up to US$5,000 per group and up to US$1,000 per group per day, to help defray group expenses for the following items only:
   - Honoraria for lecturers
   - Rental fee for meeting room
   - Hiring an interpreter
   - Hiring a vehicle for local transportation

Other expenditures, such as visas, entrance tickets to historical sites or museums, etc., cannot be counted towards group expenses and should be covered as part of the per diem mentioned in #1 above, or by other funding sources.

Costs incurred due to accident, theft, etc. are the responsibility of the project director and the organizing institution and not the Japan Foundation CGP.

4. The maximum amount of the grant is up to US$50,000 per project.

Please note that the grant amount will be determined based on the breakdowns.

Application Process
1. Applications are accepted on a rolling basis, but must be submitted at least three (3) months prior to the planned start date of the visit, and no later than January 31, 2020.

2. Applications must include the following documents and supporting materials:
   a. Application cover sheet – please contact The Japan Foundation CGP, New York

Submit all materials to:

The Japan Foundation Center for Global Partnership, New York
Case Studies Japan Program
1700 Broadway, 15th Floor
New York, NY 10019

3. Applicants will be notified of the screening results 4-6 weeks after the proposal has been received. Proposals are reviewed using established peer-review procedures with the confidential assistance of the American Advisory Committee, which is comprised of distinguished scholars from various cultural and educational institutions across the United States.

4. Should the applying institution receive a Grant Letter from the Japan Foundation CGP, the institution must submit the following documentation, in principle, a minimum of 6 weeks prior to departure:

- Acceptance/Non-Acceptance of Grant and Request for Grant Payment form
• Full list of participants in the study tour
• Finalized itinerary including 3 academic lectures (speakers, topics, etc.)

Only after receipt of these required documents will the Foundation begin the process of disbursing funds.

   • There may also be cases in which copies of applications, including documents containing some personal information, are provided to outside consultants in order to facilitate the screening process and the evaluation of the results of projects.
   • There may be cases in which the Japan Foundation uses the information written on the application form to contact the applicant to inform of other Japan Foundation activities or to send some public-relations materials.
   • There may be cases in which details given by the applicants on the application form and attached documents, the project reports, and other related publications are provided to outside consultants in the screening process and the project evaluation.
   • There may be cases in which the Japan Foundation sends questionnaires to the addresses written on the application form after the project has ended.
   • There may be cases in which the project-related publications are released to the public.
   • The submitted materials will not be returned.

3. Applicants are requested to inform all individuals whose personal information appears on the application materials of the above-mentioned policy.

Ensuring the Necessary Safety and Security of Projects

Considering the recent instability in global security, with the increase of terrorist attacks in particular, the Japan Foundation highly recommends that you take the necessary security measures to ensure safety when you conduct your projects, such as the following:
   • Check if there are any security alerts issued in the countries or cities where your project is taking place;
   • Provide information on security and safety issues for your international guests (if any).
